naid deem proper.

In arred, in favor of maintaining this action, that, by the or executive business should be performed by the Combill, but that the executive power of the Corporation worted in the heafs of the departments.

within the meaning of the charter, of which I entertain a great doubt, there is clearly, in the resolutions passed by the Common Conneil for the purchase of this land, no violation of that section lesses, 9, Amended Charter). The resolution authorizing the purchase directs the Comptroller to make the purchase for the use of a market, limiting him as to price, and defining the dimensions of the land to be purchased. The Controller had previously advertised for and received proposals for the sale of the hand in that neighborhood, and had submitted such proposals to the Common Council. The selection from those offers, of the hand best suited for the purposes contemplated, and the limitation of the price, was a legislative and not an executive art, within the province of the Common Council, and properly exercised by them. The duty that was executive was making the contract. one of the Common Council, and properly exercised to duty that was executive was making the contract, a deed, and making the payment. This daty was, ution, confided to the Controller, and, so far as any re-before no, I see no executive act performed or to be performed by the Common Council in this stempted to be performed by the Common Council in this matter.

I do not understand this section as taking from the Common Council the right to control by tegislation the discretion of the officer, in selecting themselves the site and fixing the price at which the purchase is to be made; but, after those things are settled by an act of legislation, they cannot, either by a committee or otherwise, do any thing to carry into effect that legislation. Such powers must be exercised by the head of the department. The want of an appropriation out of which this money was to be paid is not a ground for maintaining this action, if affords no ground to the Attorney General to proceed against the defendants to restrain them in the manner asked for in the complaint. These are all the grounds on which the plaintiff's council seek to restrain the defendants, except the alleged fraud on the part of the Corporate Authorities. If any such fraud is sharged, equity can give relief on a proper application. The corporation is that a successive body would require such a proceeding to be commenced if they befieved fraud had existed. There is all time for the present Common Council is so frequently changed in its members, the fair supposition is that a successive body would require such a proceeding and prand has been discovered. In the absence of proceedings on their part, I have for the purposes of this action conceded that the Attorney General might commence the action. It is, therefore, necessary to examine the complaint to ascertain whether any such fraud is charged in the transaction as would wittiste the proceeding.

Where the whole foundation of the action rests upon the fraud, whether my scaling visitate the proceeding.

Where the whole foundation of the action rests upon the fraud, such fraud should be charged as the ground of the action. If, without such allegations, the people, by the Attorney General, have no right to interfere, then it should be shown by the complaint that the parties had been guilty of acts of fraud, which would authorize the Court to restrain the collection of a judge.

point that the parties had been guitty of acts of fraud, which would authorize the Court to retrain the collection of a judgment that appears to be regular.

The complaint shows the proceedings by the Common Council, in authorizing originally the purchase by the Controller; the presentment of the deed by Lowber and demand of the purchase money; the action brought by Lowber and recovery of judgment thereon; that such action was referred by consent of parlies; that an execution was beseed thereon; that the property; that the paid therefor was double the value of the property; that the bits was defective; that the Counsel to the Corporation reported the title to be good, thus the land was encumbered by a mort age; that the Counsel to the Corporation relaxed to take any measures for the reide of the Corporation; that an application was made to the Corporation, and they passed resolutions upon the subject, which the complaint wers to have been passed by them regardless of their date; that the Mayor suffered the resolutions to become a law without signing or vetoeting the same surreptitionally; that the action was refused by the counsel, and judgment suffered through neglect; that the Corporation applies to the Counter's base the lagment to opened, which was opposed by the Counsel to the Corporation, and Lowber, on the ground that the Corporation had no right to interfere or to be heard aron such motion; and that an order was made by the Composed by the Counsel to the Corporation had no right to interfere or to be heard aron such motion; and that an order was made by the Composed by the Counsel to the Corporation had no right to interfere or to be heard aron such motion; and that an order was made by the Composed by the Counsel to the corporation that are referred to the corporation that these facts as stated in the complaint of not show such facts as will warrant, the Count in chargles fraid upon the Common Council. No fraud is charged against them, and in defection of the provisions of the charter, but no trand is aid succeed.

I do not consider that the discretion of the Common Council kepislation can be controlled by the Counts. If they have audity to legislate, their discretion as to what should be passed as jetted is a matter exclasively for themselves. They may so improvident laws, they may make improvident purchases, y may pay for hand prices which some would think conduct, but neither the Attorney-General nor a tax-payer has a thirt of which their the prices paid by those did not exceed a wat style and the prices paid by those did not exceed a cataly value, or that it was wise to pass the ordinances or solkthy as they may adopt.

tion was discreet, that the prices paid by them did not exceed the activit value, or that it was wise to pass the ordinances or geodelic pass they may adopt.

Nor are the acts of the counsel any ground for maintaining this action. It was his doty to examine the tiple and comply with the directions of the Common the tiple and comply with the directions of the Common Council so far as those directions did not conflict with the law. His consent to refer the cause of Lowber agine the Gisporation, even if ill advised, was not likeal but was expressly authorized by the Code, which provides for the reference of all causes by consent. His objections to the motion in the Saps me Court to open that judgment were made in pursuance of a resolution passed by the Common Council after full knowledge of the transaction in regard to the resovery of the judgment, which were passed by the Common Council after full knowledge of the transaction in regard to the resovery of the judgment, and of a resolution directing him to hake measures to enforce payment of said judgment, which were passed by the Common Council, without any charge of fraid on their part, must be treated as a ratification of the action of the previous Common Council in authorizing the purchase, and the Counsel the treated as a ratification of the action of the previous Common Council in authorizing the purchase, and the Counsel the Common Council in subsequent control of purchase or improvidence in making the sontract, attempted to disobey such resolutions.

The Hendes of Departments do not hold their places independent of the legislation of the Common Council, and where such hejaslation is not in violation of law they have no right or power to refuse obscience to such legislation because they may deem it movine or improvident.

There is no difficulty on the part of the Common Council in hustiviting his action in the ensures to compel the payment of the money, the acts of the counsel in carrying out those resolutions cannot be condemned.

My conclusions are, that i offrected the counsel to take measures to compel the payment from money, the acts of the counsel in carrying out those reso-ations cannot be condemned.

My conclusions are, that if it be conceded that the Attorney was the conclusions are, that if it be conceded that the attorney hesions cannot be condemned.

My conclusions are, that if it be conceded that the Attorney General may bring an action in the name of the people to restrain a Municipal Corporation, it can only be from committing a fewindiant or illegal disposition of the corporate property. That such fraud must be distinctly charged in the complaint, where it is the foundation of the action.

That no fraud is charged in the complaint in this action upon which the same can be sustained.

That the resolution passed by the Common Conneil authorizing the Controller to make the purchase of the land in questions was within their powers as conferred by the charter.

That the Common Council may order land to be purchased for a market, notwith tanding the limitation in the charter as to the yearly value of lind which they may hold.

And that in passing such resolution, they did not violate say of the restrictions countain d in the charters of the city.

The metion to dismiss the complaint is therefore granted.

DESPERATE CONFLICT WITH BURGLARS-ONE SHOT BY AN OFFICER-THEIR CAPTURE.-About 11 o'clock on Saturday meroing, officers Leich, Kelly and Basley, of the Ninth Precinct, were patrolling down Bedford avenue. When near the corner of Putnam avenue. they came suddenly upon three men of suspicious ap pearance and action. Officer Kelly hailed them, calling one by the name of John. He replied that that was not his name, and then all quickened their pace. They were hailed by the officers, who inquired where they lived. They replied, "On Crow Hill." Officer Kelly, knowing that locality well, at once perceived that they were stating a falsehood. Officer Leich then made an attempt to seize the largest one, who was apparently the ringleader, when he drew a pistol and threatened to blow the officer's brains out. Officer Baisley had arrested one of the other two when he heard the remark, and leaving his prisoner went to the assistance of Officer Leich. The burglar had his pistol drawn and presented to the head of Officer Leich, when Baisley struck him on the head and the prisoner stumbling at the same time fell with Officer Leich. While upon the ground he made a desperate attempt to discharge the pistol, but was prevented by Officer Baisley, who beat him on the right arm with his club with such force as to fracture one of the bones. The prisoner at last succeeded in getting up from the ground, when Officer Baisley fired two shots at him, the prisoner relurning both as he ran, but with no effect. One of Baisley's shots took effect in the prisoner's left ankle joint. He however succeeded in escaping across-lets, and was lost. Officer Kelly, meanwhile, ran his prisoner, named William Hawley, into his (the officer's) house, when he was searched and a brase key, a bit and brace and a jimmy were found in his possession. He then took him to the Station-House, and himself, Baisley and Leich, went in search of the other two. Passing along Fulton ave nue, near Bedford avenue, they saw a man wall along with a cap on. He was lame and was a detected as the ringleader. He was taken ar A locked up in the Station-House. A pistol was sand upon him, some money, &c. The other War, succeeded in ATTEMPTED INVANTATION.—On Seturday night a woman named Mary Walsh gave birth to an infant at a honse in Tillary street, where she was temporarily residing. Shortly after its birth she wrapped it in some old clothing and threw it into the cesspool in the back yard. Officer Boyd having been informed by one of the women in the house what had been done, examined into the affair and found the infant in the place designated. The officer performed his disagreeable task with all the dispatch possible, and found that the child was alive, owing to the fact, doubtless, that it was thickly wrapped up. The mother, who is a strong robust Irish woman, states that the child made no noise for two hours after it was born, and, thinking it was dead, made way with it in the manner stated. She is a married woman, and has been deserted by her husband. Some time in May lost she followed him to Ireland, and on arriving there ascertained that he had returned to America. She immediately secured a passage back, and arrived here a few days ago; but without finding her husband, who is supposed to be in Massachusetts. She was locked up in the First Precinct Station-House. The child is doing well under the treatment of Surgeon Ball.

RECOVERING.—Peter Straub, who was so severely beaten on Thursday night in the Sixteenth Ward, is recovering rapidly, his wounds not being so serious as they were at first supposed.

COMMERCIAL MATTERS.

SATURDAY, Sept. 11-P. M. The market drags from day to day, notwithstanding the approach of that period of the year when speculation is naturally most active at the Stock Exchange, and there are evidently causes for this dullness which do not supear upon the surface. We have, first, the strong feeling of distrust entertained by the public in regard to railway seourities, which has scarcely had time to wear off, though perhaps less violent than at the period when the losses were fresh. This is proba-bly the greatest obstacle to a revival of business at the Stock Exchange-extending, as it does, over the length and breadth of the whole country, and reaching in its influence to England, Germany, and France, whence came a good share of the support which gave vigor and activity to the market prior to the revulsion of tast Autumn. The withdrawal of such powerful customers abroad, and the indifference of those at home, creates a vacuum in the market, which grows more palpable as we wait in vain for those great stock movements ordinarily witnessed in times of extraordimary money ease, and at a period when business usually acquires its greatest volume and activity in the year. These are, doubtless, the causes which render this period of money plethora so different from these heretofore encountered in our financial history, as to its effects upon stock speculation. The feverish movements of last Winter and Spring were the first spasmodic impulses of a market reacting from great depression-the sudden rush of unemployed money into the field of speculation, before men had reflected upon causes and effects, and the consequence of very natural desire and hope on the part of those who had made losses to regain their money if possible. Had this improvement been sustained-as it could have been only in the development of intriusic merit in the stocks dealt in-sufficient to justify the higher valuation established for the time, we should now, in all probability, come upon a period of gigantic speclations; but the sudden and disheartening fall which ensued, frightened outsiders from the track again most effectually, and now, to tempt them back again, the in ducements must be of a strong and substantial character The fact that Railway Stocks constitute a large ma jority of those upon the Board list which are convenient for speculation, gives to this feature of public distrust a peculiar significance and importance, in a consideration of the present apathy at our Stock Exchange, and we do not hesitate to pronounce it the material cause of inactivity. Much of this lack of confidence is entirely justifiable-it would be folly to deny it. The wholesale depletion to which many o our Railway Companies have been subjected, the enormous bond shaves, stock waterings, not to men tion some instances of flagrant swindling, which we have had exposed in the dissecting process of the panic have been sufficient to inspire the most unmitigated disgust. Discrimination, which should be exercised in a fair investigation of Railway property, seems out of the question. While the current of feeling is thus strong, and the good, bad and indifferent suffer alike in public estimation, until reform has done its work theroughly, and we commence to build up the fabric of confidence anew on a good foundation, There was but one regular session of the Board to-day, and the business was not large at this; but the feeling premium, and only par bid. was that of greater firmness throughout the session, and a moderate improvement was established for the of August was. leading shares. This, as far as we can learn, was the principal result | me arrived at by the Convention, and although it does not } necessarily settle " question in dispute between the Eric and Central Reads, yet that result will probably ollow. follow. The Central, we hear, has made some further concessions, by which some of the objections of the parties b d some of the Erie managers appear to be thore ghly sick of the present state of affairs, it is oable that in a week or two a harmonious under-standing will be arrived at. Still it is somewhat difficult to see how the Erie managers can enter into any agreement with a corporation they have so repeatedly and openly charged with all manner of bad faith and cheatery. We annex a comparative statement of the Foreign Imports at New-York for the week and since Jan. 1: For the Week. 1856. 1857. Thompson's Bank Note Reporter contains the following items in regard to suspended banks:

The former owner of the Warren County Bank has repossessed himself of the majority of the stock, and is hard at work trying to get righted up. We think he will succeed, for this week we quoted it at 10 $\phi$

The McKean County Bank grows worse, and there

The McKean County Bank grows worse, and there is no sale for its notes.

The Tioga County Bank is being taken up by the new owners, but we have not sufficient knowledge of them to feel any way sure of its safety.

The Bank of Crawford County appears to be in pretty safe hands.

The Litchfield County Bank is not yet relieved entirely from the injunction of the Bank Commissioners, but it probably will be soon. The notes are selling at a small discount.

Business has shown considerable activity during the week. more especially among the jobbers, some of whom have been obliged to keep their clerks at work until past midnight. The importers have also been well employed. In Money matters there is no change of importance. The supply of paper in the discount houses is still very small, and rather decreasing. Short first-class paper goes at 31 25 F cent, and six and eight months paper 5 27 $\text{$\pi$} cent. Long paper is perhaps | P cent higher than two months since. Call loans are freely offered on favorite collaterals at 324 ₽ cent. The market for Treasury Notes is very dull, there appearing to be little or no disposition to invest in these Notes or the new Government loan. We cannot hear of any orders for the new loan from the other side. Treasury Notes are rather pressed on the market at declining rates. The 3 ? cents are 1-521 ? cent discount. The 47 P cents are offered at 30 cents
